Pretty in the City

A trio of new-on-the-scene beauty spots pamper Chicago.

Ener At Bucktown's newest hot spot for nail care, facials, waxing and threading treatments, you can get your beauty on and summon the "energy to work, relax, play and thrive," says owner Rene Alphonse. Attain your perfect beauty balance from mood-boosting menu offerings that reverse sun damage, hydrate the skin and more. 1702 N. Damen Ave., enerspachicago.com

Fuga Centro At Antonio Favaro's second full-service salon (the first is on Southport), clients come for the cuts, colors, facials and nail services, but stay for the Italian-inspired atmosphere. Sip Lavazza coffee and peruse custom-made clothing by designer Roberto Pesce before settling in for a bikini wax. Want more beauty from abroad? Book a treatment with one of the European skin specialists on staff. 8 S. Michigan Ave., Ste. 200, salonfuga.com

Sine Qua Non Treat your tresses at Sine Qua Non's fourth Chicago-area location, which just opened in West Town. Cut, color and style services are joined by skincare treatments in this contemporary space—a raw loft with graffiti-covered, exposed-brick walls and chandeliers hanging from tin ceilings. 2038 W. Chicago Ave., sinequanonsalon.com
